

2020 U.S.-EU NanoEHS COR Workshop: Bridging Insights and Perspectives

September 16-17

Daily runtime: 6:30 (Pacific)/9:30 (Eastern)/15:30 (Central Europe) – 10:30/13:30/19:30

The U.S. National Nanotechnology Initiative (NNI) and European Commission have organized the ninth annual meeting of the nanoEHS Communities of Research (CORs) as a virtual workshop on September 16-17, 2020. As the nanoEHS research ecosystem continues to evolve, this event will identify future needs and opportunities. Conversations will further address how the lessons learned from nanoEHS research can be applied to other areas such as emerging technologies and incidental nanomaterials. The workshop will foster high-level discussions of nanoEHS and related areas to explore connections and synergies that will drive responsible development into the coming decades.

The event will run for four hours each day. Webcast plenaries (📺) will include a live Q&A portion. Breakout sessions (👥) will feature interactive discussion.

6:30/9:30/15:30

Welcome and Program Overview 📺

6:45/9:45/15:45

Databases and Informatics 📺

7:15/10:15/16:15

Breakout Discussions 👥

- Databases and informatics
- Applying lessons learned from ENMs to incidental materials
- Developing and adapting risk assessment frameworks for novel risks

9:00/12:00/18:00

Break

9:30/12:30/18:30

Breakout Session Reports & Discussion 📺

10:00/13:00/19:00

Detecting and characterizing nanoplastics in real-world samples 📺

10:25/13:25/19:25

Day 1 Wrap-up 📺

10:30/13:30/19:30
